

LinkRF, Eichhofstrasse 1, 6205 Eich Switzerland

info@linkrf.ch

Ordering Terms and Conditions

1. All products and Systems supplied by LinkRF are subject to these Ordering Terms and Conditions as from 1st August 2011
2. LinkRF is an independent electronic design house for hobby radio amateur, produce handmade electronic systems for private use in civil applications. Any uses in military, government or interdiction applications are forbidden.
3. All products and Systems supplied by LinkRF are supplied to individuals or civil organization with a valid Ham Radio License in their respective countries.
4. Orders are done via email and payments by strictly Bank transfer, shipping date depends on the product availability. Some products are not in stock and will enter in production as soon the 100% of the payment is confirmed.
5. LinkRF reserves the right to modify or withdraw any product including pricing without giving prior notice.
6. LinkRF warrants that unless stated otherwise, all products are new and sourced from reputable Suppliers.
7. LinkRF should be notified of any defective or missing parts within 60 days from date shipment. Assembled products have a 12 month return to base warranty which excludes damage, misuse, modifications.
8. For assembled products the warranty is lost if the system box is open even only for internal visual inspection.
9. For kit products LinkRF accepts no responsibility for assembly errors, for repairs due to non-operation, misuse, inadequate kit-building skills, unauthorized product modification or lack in performance.
10. Yoyodyne Consulting is a commercial house in Canada who assist LinkRF in the commercialization of some products, this term and conditions apply and fully protect Yoyodyne Consulting and LinkRF sales under these conditions.
11. The software and firmware used by LinkRF in their products are distributed "as is" and no warranties or indemnities are made.

12. The firmware in the AVR chip is property of Tom Baier (DG8SAQ), the firmware PE0FKO V15.14 is property of Fred Krom (PE0FKO), Linrad is property of Leif Asbrink (SM5BSZ), WSJT and MAP65 is property of Joe Taylor (K1JT). The software DRITrack is property of Alex Artieda (HB9DRI). UADC series is property of Alex Artieda (HB9DRI). Yoyodyne Consulting is a trade mark of George Boudreau.
13. Products supplied by LinkRF and/or Yoyodyne Consulting are designed for and supplied for Educational, Amateur Radio and Hobbyist use only. LinkRF products ARE NOT DESIGNED for use in Commercial, Professional, Airborne, Medical, or Mission Critical applications and LinkRF shall not be held responsible if products are used in these applications. No warranties are made whatsoever as to the stability and suitability of the design, during continuous operation or operation outside components specification. No liability is accepted for precise communications, accuracy measurements or performance either short term or long term.
14. Shipping is done via Swiss postal Service; registered parcels are available only by request. The use of any other carriers' provider needs to be requested together with the pre-order. LinkRF will not assume any responsibility for lost parcels if registered and ensured services are not required in advance. For items shipped from Canada via Yoyodyne consulting the buyer is responsible to select the suitable shipping method to their demands (with or without insurance)
15. For orders placed via PayPal, that company force us to use the address consigns in the buyer profile, any attempt to claim refunds via PayPal for errors originated by the buyer address, name or other information automatic invalidate the guarantee, the commercial responsibility is broke and guarantees and obligations dissolve if the buyer is refunded by PayPal.
16. Intellectual property of products supplied by LinkRF including printed circuit boards, products and kit assembly manuals do not transfer to the buyer through the sale of the product.
17. Liability of LinkRF and or Yoyodyne Consulting shall be strictly limited to the amount paid for the product. No liability is accepted for indirect consequential damages, which may be attributed to any product supplied by LinkRF and/or Yoyodyne Consulting.
18. LinkRF may change these "Ordering Terms and Conditions" without giving notice. changes to Terms and Conditions will only be applicable to new orders. Terms and Conditions shall not affect your statutory right under the Swiss Law.